VOL. XXV. NO. 227. CHICAGO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1919. SPECIAL EDITION

RESUMES ITS OLD PLACE

Lawrence Realization Again One of Richest Races of the Year.

Gross Value of 1919 Running About $25,000—Sir Barton Among Likely Starters.

NEW YORK, N. Y., September 4.—Time was when the Lawrence Realization Stakes was one of the most valuable, as well as most popular fixtures of the eastern turf. The race was established in 1889 by the Coney Island Jockey Club and run over the famous Sheepshead Bay course until 1910 inclusive. In 1913 it was transferred to Belmont Park, where it now has found a permanent home. The famous Salvator was the first winner of the Realization, as it was known until 1899, and the net value to the winner of its initial running amounted to $34,100, the largest in the history of the race. Up to 1910 its net value never fell below $12,000, but during the reconstruction period from 1910 to 1918 the winner of this famous race received only a modest sum. Last year it was worth $10,725 when H. P. Whitney's Johren enrolled his name among the select list of great horses which won in years gone by.

It is only right and in keeping with the times when racing has come into its own and the turf is enjoying even greater prosperity than it did a decade or so ago that the Lawrence Realization has retrieved some of its lost glory and again takes its place among the most valuable races of the year. For that is what the Lawrence Realization is this year, as its gross value, including starting fee, will be approximately $25,000, and the winner's share will exceed $20,000.

The Lawrence Realization is a race that always appealed strongly to breeders and the conditions provide for prizes to the nominators of the first, second and third horses, as in the Futurity. Under the conditions for this year's event horses were nominated as foals before November 15, 1916, and as yearlings by November 15, 1917, larger subscription and liability fees being demanded for those named as yearlings. Altogether, there were 261 nominations, of which sixty still remain eligible to start.

SIR BARTON IN FINE CONDITION.

Commander Ross' great colt Sir Barton is among the likely starters in the race, which will be the feature of a splendid program preparted for the coming Saturday at Belmont Park, when, if weather conditions are propitious, another crowd such as was present Labor day will severely tax the commodious home of the Westchester Racing Association. Sir Barton has not raced since his defeat by Purchase in the Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct last spring, but is reported in fine condition and ready to uphold his reputation as the best three-year-old of the year. Purchase is not in the Lawrence Realization, but there are such as Dunboyne, King Plaudit, Cirrus, Star Hampton, War Pennant, Vindex, Questionnaire, Sweep On, Lord Brighton and others in addition to Sir Barton to try for the rich prize and, even with the latter considered a sure starter, a large field seems certain. The following are those still eligible to start:

NOTED ENGLISH TURFMAN PASSES AWAY

The death is announced of Mr. Edward Clark, of Newcastle, a well-known solicitor in the North of England. He patronized all branches of sport, and was particularly a keen follower of boxing and the turf. The best of his race horses was Rising Falcon, gelding by St. Issey—Magpie, which was bred by Lord Savile and was purchased by Mr. Clark as a yearling for 100 guineas. He developed into one of the fastest horses of his time, amidst his achievements being the winning of the Batthyany Plate twice in successive years; the Royal Stakes at Epsom with 139 pounds in the saddle, and the Chatsworth Plate three times in successive years.

SIRES WHICH HAVE BEEN MOST SUCCESSFUL WITH WINNING TWO-YEAR-OLDS IN RECENT YEARS

In the matter of sending two-year-olds into racing, Star Shoot's record is something remarkable. His twenty-seven in 1916 has no parallel here or abroad. The record previously had been Ogden's nineteen in 1914, a number which supplanted Cesarion's eighteen in 1910. Ogden again had nineteen in 1916, the same number standing to Sweep's credit in 1917. Star Shoot's 129 winning two-year-olds from and including 1910 captured a total of $213,757. Broomstick's fifty-four in the same length of time won $186,442. The average of money won per head is $1,657 for Star Shoot and $3,452 for Broomstick, a showing decidedly in favor of the latter of the two long-time rivals. Others of our prominent sires which have good records in the number of their winning two-year-olds and money won by them are Peep o'Day, Dick Welles, Yankee, Celt, Sweep and Peter Quince. Uncle and Olambala are also prominent in money won. The following tabulation presents facts well worth consideration:

PEDIGREES OF THREE COSTLY COLTS

Three colts which sold for big sums in the course of the Saratoga yearling sales were the Celt—Sand Dune colt, $22,500; Celt—Patricia IV. colt, $15,000, and Bennington, by Fair Play—Roxane, $10,000. The fact that buyers were willing to pay such prices vests the future of these colts with a decided tinge of interest. Of the high-priced ones of last year only Golden Broom has made good in this year's racing. It may prove different in the cases of this trio. They are richly-bred and their pedigrees are as follows:

BENNINGTON (1918), chestnut colt, by	Fair Play	Hastings	Spendthrift	Australian Aerolite
			Cinderella	Bl.R'n or T'h'wk Manna
		Fairy Gold	Bend Or	Doncaster Rouge Rose

NEW RACE TRACK ON LONG ISLAND

NEW YORK, N. Y., September 4.—Within two years there will be a new race course on Long Island unless the ideas of the promoters are awry. It is proposed by a few capitalists to build a beautiful track about a mile from Long Beach and about forty minutes' ride on the Pennsylvania road from New York. The location is quite close to the Lido golf links. Already the land is acquired and, while the association has not yet been formed or a charter granted, it is sufficiently advanced to almost insure its consummation. Senator Reynolds is much interested in the scheme and with him are some prominent horsemen and wealthy racing enthusiasts. The location is one that will be most acceptable to the patrons of racing and ideal for a race course, but it will take some time to develop and build, hence the prediction it will hardly be utilized until 1921. According to authentic report it will not take the place of Jamaica as at first reported, but will be an independent organization.

There is room for such an institution to fill in the lawful time allotted to racing in this state, which can begin racing on April 15 and continue until November 15, with not more than forty days' sport at any individual track. Work will begin on the ground in the way of draining and foundation, but Long Beach being of a sandy nature it will take much time before suitable ground work can be formed. That the track will be accepted into the ranks of the Jockey Club there is little question, there being at least one of the members concerned in its welfare, as well as some wealthy individuals.

CURRENT NOTES OF THE TURF

Judge Joseph A. Murphy, the well-known racing official, was in Chicago for a few days on a business trip and returned last night to his home in St. Louis.

J. E. Widener's big two-year-old colt by Santoi—Charity Lass was not raced this year because of his size. He was entirely too big to be trained and is being reserved for three-year-old racing next year.

Frank Waters, which won the opening race at Belmont Park Tuesday, was a pronounced roarer last spring, but an operation similar to that which cured Star Master has apparently proved successful in his case.

MORE FOR COMMANDER ROSS

Constancy and War Marvel Win Two Races for Him.

Naturalist Defeats Billy Kelly by Inches in a Great Finish—Belmont Park Improves.

NEW YORK, N. Y., September 4.—Improved weather conditions accounted for an increased attendance at Belmont Park today. Better fields contended than in the past few days, making the afternoon's sport much more interesting from every standpoint than heretofore.

Perhaps the best field that has faced the barrier at the meeting was seen in the Autumn Highweight Handicap over the three-quarters straight course. It embraced Naturalist, Billy Kelly, Enfilade and Peter Piper, being worth $2,900 net. It furnished a close and thrilling finish between Naturalist and Billy Kelly, the former getting a nose decision. To many in the stand it appeared that Billy Kelly had won. He was on the side nearest the spectators, toward the outer rail, while Naturalist was on the inside. The time was fast, for the track was not entirely dried out.

Commander J. K. L. Ross' Constancy had little contention for first honors in the opening race, this good filly only cantering to win from Arethusa and Ricochet. Masked Dancer was withdrawn, as was His Choice, the other entry from the Ross stable.

Lucius had little trouble in taking the measure of the others he was meeting in the third race. Although defeated the day before, he was again well supported, and at the end was a long margin ahead of Capt. Hodge and Gleipner.

A well-matched field started in the fourth, a selling handicap, over a distance of a mile and a sixteenth. Recount was installed favorite on the strength of his recent good form, but the consistent Ivry was returned the winner after wearing Recount down in the final eighth.

Commander J. K. L. Ross' colors were triumphant in the closing race, a three-quarters dash over the regular course, for three-year-olds, when War Marvel, well ridden by Sande, was first, making it a double for this owner. War Drive was second and Leading Star third.

Racing folks hereabouts will have enough racing Saturday when the final meeting of the United Hunts will begin at eleven o'clock in the morning so as to be completed in time for the afternoon program at Belmont Park.

Thomas Monahan has transferred his horses from trainer A. J. Goldsborough to J. H. McAvoy. They include King Albert, Fruit of the Loom and Royal Low, all two-year-olds. Mr. McAvoy has in hand several horses of Mr. Monahan's which he purchased from Mrs. Livingston, but have not yet been raced.

MAN O' WAR'S FORMIDABLE RIVAL

Speedy Dominique Conceded a Chance Against the Champion in the Coming Futurity.

NEW YORK, N. Y., September 4.—There might be a surprise in store in the Futurity, to be run the closing day of the Belmont Park meeting. Sam Hildreth's exceedingly fast youngster Dominique may furnish the excitement. It is within the realm of possibility, in fact, probable, that at least he will be the runner-up to the great Man o' War, for he has twice beaten Cleopatra, considered to be the pick of the Karrick collection. This is the opinion of many experts and horsemen who have witnessed the work and running of Dominique. They do not declare themselves with confidence that Dominique will beat Man o' War, but are quite positive he will give him a good race. "I have timed Dominique a quarter in better than 22 seconds," said Hildreth while at Saratoga, "and that is about as fast as a horse can be expected to run." Mr. Hildreth is not the only person who has seen Dominique work fast; in fact, he has shown quite as much speed as Man o' War in the first half of his races, though not carrying quite as much weight.

"Dominique has two things to prove," said one of the best handicappers in the business. "He must prove his weight-carrying ability, also endurance. Many horses can run a half mile pretty fast, but when it comes to carrying out the big contract they are not there. Dominique will have to beat Man o' War in a real contest before I can give him the preference. He may do it, but I am from Missouri." In the Futurity Man o' War will have to carry 130 pounds, with 122 on Dominique. Judging from Wednesday's race Dominique will be suited with any kind of going, as will Man o' War, so that no excuse can be forthcoming in the Futurity, no matter what track conditions prevail. Dominique has been beaten but once, by Paul Jones, and that was due to a slight attack of bucked shins. Since his recovery he has shown to be built of high class material. He was bred by J. N. Camden and sold for $150 when a yearling.

Golden Broom, the fine-looking Sweeper—Zuna colt which suffered a mishap in his last race at Saratoga, will be punch-fired during the winter and rested until next spring.

DIAZ STRING READY FOR FALL RACING

Busy Campaign Mapped Out for Racers of the Cuban Sportsman at Maryland Tracks.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., September 4.—The stable of A. H. Diaz of Havana, which scored its first stake victory at Saratoga on Wednesday, August 27, when the two-year-old Grayssian defeated Kinnoul, Sammy, Round Robin, King Thrush, David Harum, Cinderella and Carmandale, in the Adirondack Handicap, will arrive from Saratoga this week in the charge of William McDaniel. Mr. McDaniel will bring with him to Maryland for the Havre de Grace, Laurel Park and Pimlico meetings Grayssian, Blue Wrack, Azurita, Just Fancy and Zululand, also the four-year-old Tracery colt Orestes. These horses are all in splendid condition, and Grayssian and Azurita, the last named a daughter of Hessian and Motley, are to be trained for the $10,000 Eastern Shore Stakes, Havre de Grace's best two-year-old special.

The Eastern Shore will be run on September 22, and it is not improbable that it will attract Man o' War, Upset, Constancy, she the Spinaway winner at Saratoga; King Thrush, Kinnoul, Blazes, winner of the Grab Bag Handicap; Ralco and others. Azurita is every bit as fast as is Grayssian in work, but she had bad luck in both her Saratoga starts. She was left at the post twice. Blue Wrack, a winner in Cuba and at Aqueduct, is hardly as capable a youngster as either Grayssian or Azurita.

Orestes, whose half-brother is Donnacona, a son of Prince Palatine and Kildonan, will be pointed for the Harford County Handicap, a race with $5,000 added, at a mile and seventy yards, that will be run on September 11, and the $10,000 Havre de Grace Handicap, a race of a mile and an eighth, that will be run on September 27. Orestes was in splendid form at Saratoga on August 4, when he defeated Huttontrope in a race of one mile, which distance he covered in 1:37⅖. He did not like the going on August 15, when Cudgel, Spur and Valor trimmed him. Orestes likes a fast track.

THE FRESH WATER TIGER

Story of a Mighty Battle With a Gamy Muskellunge.

Reminiscences of Trip Made Thirty Years Ago Into the Wilds of Wisconsin.

The northern part of the State of Wisconsin is almost a network of lakes, lying isolated or in chains, connected with one another by waterways, with outlets into Lake Superior or the Mississippi River. These lakes vary in size from a few acres to several square miles in extent, and are filled with a variety of fresh water fish. Among the gamest of these are the blackbass, walleyed pike, pickerel and that tiger of fresh water, the lordly muskellunge, or maskinonge in the Algonquin tongue. Some contend the name is derived from the French masque longue or long face. The name is certainly appropriate, as the nose is so long and the jaw slightly prognathous, which gives the face a sad and almost sinister appearance. In the estimation of many the muskellunge has no rival as a delicious food fish, the flesh being firm, fine of grain and sweet. Whether old or young, small or large, the quality is unimpaired. It is a curious fact that of the fish mentioned the bass, pike and pickerel, or the bass, pike and muskellunge, are found in the same lakes, but never are the pickerel and muskellunge found in the same water. I have never heard a satisfactory explanation of this, but the fact remains.

The name "tiger" as applied to the muskellunge is no misnomer, for, as he lies in wait for his prey on some shallow bar extending into the lake, concealed by water lily pads or submerged weeds, he exhibits the same stealthy patience as the tiger of the jungle or plain, and woe to the food fish that crosses his line of vision. With a lightning like swirl he closes on his prey and those long jaws and needle-like teeth never let go. When feeding the musky, as the natives call him, is voracious in the extreme. I have caught more than one that had the tail of a sucker, his favorite food, still in his mouth, the body and head being in process of digestion in the stomach. Like the brook trout the musky is absolutely rapacious, and when feeding will kill and devour to his utmost capacity.

FAVORITE HAUNTS DISCOVERED.

Since the advent of the railroads into this north country most of the favorite haunts of the musky have been discovered and at the fishing resorts, which have sprung up on many of these lakes, one may meet sportsmen from all parts of the country and nearly every state in the Union. Thirty years ago the railroad had only recently been put through, connecting the central part of Wisconsin with Lake Superior. This road ran for the greater part of the way through vast pine forests and numerous settlements had sprung up surrounding sawmills. From these towns wagon roads, used by the lumbermen, led through the woods to numberless lakes that had never been fished except by Indians or woodsmen. These afforded rare sport to the lover of the wilds.

One August morning, about the time of which I write, my friend Ted Pope and I boarded a train bound for the north country of sport and adventure. Our duffle bags were well packed and we felt that we were due to kill a big fish. After traveling about 100 miles north by train we alighted at a small sawmill settlement, so new that the shingles on the houses were not discolored. After numerous inquiries we finally found a half-breed Indian who agreed to drive us out to Moose Lake, a distance of about eighteen miles, although he refused to guarantee our reception at Jake's, a sort of stopping place for loggers and trappers. "I don't know," said Joe, our driver. "Mabeso, if wiskey all gone, Jake be good, if not, be very bad. Say he shoot any Indian come near lake." We decided to chance it and were glad we did. Our drive of eighteen miles through those woods was an event in our lives and something to remember. I have taken it many times since, but it never has given me the thrills I experienced that first time. The road was good, except in spots, having been used for hauling supplies to distant logging camps. The lofty pines towered above us, interspersed with hardwood ridges covered with maple, elm, ash and hickory, standing thick and quiet and affording fine cover for the deer, which were numerous.

BEAUTIFUL WORK OF NATURE.

Then another stretch of pines, with the road resembling a lane through them and the ground level and covered with a coat of brown needles. Thus does nature build and furnish her house until man comes along and makes of it disorder and ruin where it was so beautiful and old and quiet. In some of the openings the ground was literally covered with blueberries, although it was August, and such berries! The clusters were almost as large as bunches of grapes. From the midst of them would start up families of partridges or Canada grouse. We passed many small lakes and occasionally the call of a loon would come to us, so like the cry of a human in distress that we were always startled. Joe would say: "That loon," nothing more and what more was necessary? We, so called civilized people, certainly waste a lot of time merely talking. Joe's contributions to the conversations were not numerous or lengthy, but always to the point, such as: "Deer crossed here last night," or "Bear signs here." These brief bits of information told us all that we were most anxious to know. We arrived at Jake's about sundown and found him in fairly good form and after his man Ed had helped to put the horses in the log stable, we repaired to Jake's hotel, a log cabin of good size, and sat down to a supper of mutton, potatoes, bread and tea. In the woods, and out of season, venison is always mutton. If the man of the house does not care to take a chance on the game warden he leaves a bottle of whiskey or a piece of bacon at some appointed place on the trail and finds in its place a sack of mutton. Although he may never meet the Indian he can always be reached in this indirect way, which he much prefers to open trading. Over our pipes after supper Ed answered our questions. Yes, we could catch plenty of pike and bass right here, but if we wanted a big musky we had better go over to the big lake several miles east. We could canoe up this lake three miles until we came to a tall, blasted pine on the east shore then land and take the trail through the timber to the big lakes. There was no one there, but we would find a boat hidden on the shore to the right of the trail. The boat might not be much of a boat and the oars just made with an ax, but it would have to do, as there was nothing better there.

OUT OF SOUND OF CIVILIZATION.

Next morning was fine and clear and we took the birch canoe and paddled up the beautiful shore of the lake for three miles. In writing of the beauties of the lake shore I am not writing of summer resorts where handsome cottages abound and where everything seems hand made, but of natural pine forests, stretching back from the shore line to almost infinite distance; of grass meadows, sprinkled over with the most beautiful Christmas trees; of bays, where the constantly lapping waves have made a shore line of stones as perfectly placed, one upon another, as if by the hand of a skilled artisan; of islands, rising from the water level to a mound shaped center, thickly covered with beautiful pine trees and all out of sound of civilization. And what a marvel it is that Nature does all of this without regard as to whether man, with all his power of appreciation, may ever see or admire!

After hiding our canoe we took the trail, which we found fully equal to Ed's description and, we thought, a little beyond even that. Two miles of condensed toil and trouble, with hog backs, swamps and windfalls to add variety, if not simplicity, to the route through the forest.

The trail was plainly blazed. As our only pack was a large sack for carrying our possible catch and our lunch, we could not carry rods, so had to depend on a hand line, which we carried in a pocket. All troubles must come to an end sometime and we finally reached the shore of the big lake and located the boat as directed. It had evidently been knocked together at some sawmall and hauled in by the longer route. Our first attention was given to our lunch, after that a rest under the pines until our impatience getting the better of us, we got out our hand line and attached a number eight Skinner spoon. As Ted weighed one hundred and eighty pounds I elected to row and allowed him to handle the line.

MUSKY FLEW INTO THE AIR.

"Now," said Ted, "you row slowly past that point where you see those weeds sticking out of the water. A bar runs across there and that is where he is waiting for us." As we neared the point Ted dropped the hook over the stern and began to pay out the line, but had not let out more than fifteen feet when there was a commotion near the hook, as if a bomb had exploded, and, as the line straightened out a musky flew into the air, entirely out of the water. He looked to me as large as a shark. My oars remained suspended in the air through sheer amazement, while Ted, with jaw set, hung to the line. Now bear in mind that when a musky of this size is caught with rod and reel it takes a half hour's nerve-racking strain to tire him out, so that he can be shot or gaffed. Ted, however, did not propose to take any such chance with his hand line. He used his one hundred and eighty pounds of weight and muscle and in came Mr. Fish, hand over hand. Fortunately the hooks held and he lifted the musky right into the boat and then the fun commenced. That fish had no idea of remaining in that boat, being as much alive as he ever was, but we had no idea of his doing anything else. Ted grabbed for the revolver lying on the seat, but I yelled: "Don't shoot; you'll sink us," so we both threw ourselves on that fish, catch-as-catch-can, and McLaughlin in his palmiest days could not have done better. The bottom of the boat was wet and that musky was as slippery as any eel. Fore and aft we went, bumping heads and getting hold, but without being able to hold on. My pipe went skipping over the water and my watch crystal was wrecked by a slap of his big tail. Finally, by good luck, Ted got a hold in the gills and turned him up while I gave him a knockout blow with a paddle.

THE PRIZE WEIGHED 28 POUNDS.

We shook hands and rowed for the shore and Ted said: "That would be enough if it was not half so much." We repaired damages as well as we could and started on the back trail. We took turns carrying that fish and before we reached the other lake it had grown in weight at least one hundred pounds. When we got to Jake's we weighed our prize on the steelyards and found it to be twenty-eight pounds. "Just the weight," Jake said, "that makes the best fight." We have since caught larger and smaller muskies, but never such a scrapper. How we got that fish home and banqueted our friends is another story and, although we have often made the trip since and have grown older and wiser, we have concluded that, in spite of our added wisdom, if we had that job to do over again we would probably lose that musky, and assure our friends that he weighed much more.

The recollection of that trip through the untouched wilderness of northern Wisconsin stands out vividly among life's memories, and clear and distinct above the lesser incidents there remains the vision of that fighting fresh water tiger.—F. H. Graham in Forest and Stream.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS A NECESSITY

COLUMBUS, O., September 4.—President Wilson, opening his country-wide speaking tour for the peace treaty, declared in an address here today that his purpose was to "go out and report to my fellow countrymen."

"The only people to whom I owe any report," said the President, "are you and the other citizens of the United States."

The President said it also seemed "increasingly necessary" that he should make such a report because he had read many speeches about the treaty, and was unable to gather from them much of what the treaty contained. The high spots in the President's address were as follows:

Arguments against the treaty are based on misunderstanding.

If I couldn't have brought back the kind of treaty I brought back, I wouldn't have come back, because I would have been an unfaithful servant.

When this treaty is accepted, as it will be accepted, men in khaki will not have to cross the seas again.

The treaty was intended not merely to end this war, but to prevent any similar war.

The league of nations is the only thing that can prevent a recurrence of this tragedy and redeem our promises.

The league of nations is the only safeguard against more wars.

The treaty is not meant to humiliate Germany, but to rectify the wrong done by Germany, and insure reparation and justice to the people whose rights Germany had trodden upon.

The league must be ratified by this country to make good the promises to the American soldiers who were called to fight to end all the war.

Without the league peace will be brought into contempt.

I'd rather have everybody on my side than be armed to the teeth.

The treaty in the first place is designed to punish Germany.

The terms are severe, but not unjust.

There is not a single act of annexation in this treaty.

The treaty contains among other things a Magna Charta of labor, a thing unheard of until this interesting year of grace.

The conference will meet next month, no matter whether the treaty is ratified by that time or not.

25,000 PEOPLE AT LEXINGTON RACES

Largest Attendance in History of Blue Grass Fair Association Crowds Kentucky Course.

LEXINGTON, Ky., September 4.—A crowd of 25,000 people, the largest attendance in the history of the Blue Grass Fair Association, founded in 1905, witnessed today's racing. The splendid racing of the previous days was continued. Carrie Moore easily landed the opener from the favorite, High Gear, under a drive to beat Ed Garrison. H. Tullett, who trained and rode his own colt, Little Sande, attempted to repeat today in the second race, but was outfinished by Ruby by a head, having led all the way. The favorite, Bread Man, was third.

The Short Grass Stud Handicap brought together a speedy band of horses in the third race, Sands of Pleasure winning in a close finish with Fern Handley, third money going to Skeer Face. The favorite, Breeze, was badly beaten.

The fourth race proved easy for the outstanding favorite, Prince Igor, the Spence representative, finishing four lengths in front of Contestant, with Duke of Shelby another length away.

Baby Cal and Aztec furnished an interesting duel in the closing race, with the result in doubt to the final strides, the former getting the verdict by a small margin.

T. C. McDowell arrived from Saratoga today. His stable is expected tomorrow.

BOSTON, Mass., September 4.—Immediate resumption of business relations with Germany and Austria was advocated today by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, in an address before the annual meeting of the American Bar Association. Mr. Gary prefaced his speech with a declaration that the majority of the people of America were in favor of the peace treaty and the league of nations and that he would assume that it would be adopted without material change.

CANTON, O., September 4.—Justice William R. Day of the United States Supreme Court here today denied a writ asking for a stay of execution in the case of the State of Ohio against the Columbus Packing Company, in which seventy-five tons of pork, said to have been held in violation of the law, was seized by the prosecuting attorney of Franklin County. It is said the pork will be placed on the market and sold at once.

NEW YORK, N. Y., September 4.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, testified in court today in the hearing of the Mays injunction suit that he owns $58,500 worth of stock in the Cleveland team. He advanced $100,000 to the team in 1916, got $50,000 from James C. Dunn later and took stock as collateral for the rest.

COBLENZ, Germany, September 4.—Marshal Foch, the allied commander in chief, has decided upon the extent of the territory in the Rhineland to be held permanently by American forces. Its area will be twice as large as that which has been under American jurisdiction since the last combat division left for home.

PARIS, France, September 4.—The supreme council of the peace conference has decided to grant the request of the Austrian peace delegation for two days' delay in the time for presenting the Austrian answer to the terms of peace.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, September 4.—Wearied, footsore Columbus struggled valiantly to work this morning, the second day of the street car strike, hopeful that Friday morning would see the end of the tie-up.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., September 4.—The Lawson plane was badly damaged in landing here this morning, following a flight from Buffalo. No one was injured.

HUNTING, FISHING AND SPORT

The sportsmen of Minnesota are objecting strongly to the draining of Big Rice Lake, a feeding ground for migratory wild fowl. These men say that it is a mistake to drain lakes like Big Rice, which are so necessary for the feeding of hundreds of thousands of ducks which pass through Minnesota on their way south.
